Final Constitution Forum Scheduled For Complaints, Change Proposals

by Sally Arnold

THURSDAY'S FORUM will present the final opportunity for the Brigham Young University studentbody to air its complaints, ask questions and suggest changes in the proposed Constitution of the Associated Students of Brigham Young University.

The entire constitution committee plans to be on hand for the forum to discuss several controversial issues and to answer questions about new policies and institutions adopted into the proposed document.

COMPLETE reorganization of the executive council and establishment of a student court system as well as the strengthening of both executive and legislative powers are included in the new constitution.

As stipulated in the constitution the present executive council will be eliminated and replaced with a studentbody president and four vice-presidents.

THE VICE - PRESIDENTS would preside over the areas of social activities, cultural activities, student relations and finance.

Under this set-up the studentbody president will hold all executive power as "chief executive" and will officially represent the studentbody to the administration, faculty and the world.

A COURT SYSTEM outlined in the constitution will consist of a Supreme Court and other inferior courts as "the senate may deem necessary to establish from time to time."

Legislative activity is increased through the new constitution. The BYU student senate will be the sole legislative body and will have power to legislate pertaining to the policy of the studentbody, control functions of classes and may legislate pertaining to all functions financed by studentbody funds.

STUDENTS planning to attend the forum should pick up copies of the proposed constitution in the Student Coordinator's Office in the basement of the Student Service Center, and read them prior to the forum.

Diane Hatch, constitution committee publicist, has suggested that students formulate questions and suggestions before the meeting.

"Students wanting to change the constitution, add to it or question it have this one opportunity to do so, or forever hold their peace," according to Miss Hatch.

FOLLOWING THE forum the constitution will be put in final form for administrative approval and presented to Dr. Henry L. Isaksen, student coordinator, for the administration's okay.

Richards said narrator Wilcox, Modesto, Calif., rect questions which are ral interest to Newell B. choir director, Law- rence Sardoni, conductor of the orchestra, and Dr. Gates.

IT IS EXPLAINED that before, during or after a selection is offered by one of the groups, Wilcox will direct questions toward the conductor concerning the presentation, and items of information leading to the further enjoyment of the number by the audience will be given.

Miss Richards stressed this wouldn't be a lesson or workshop in music, but that it is designed to inform the untrained person in music about the selections so that better understanding of why the pieces are presented in a certain way will be gained by the audience.

POSSIBLY THE MOST interesting part of this enlightening discussion of the works will be in the presentation by Dr. Gates of his composition, "Oh, My Luve Is Like a Red, Red Rose." He will show how he went about composing this work, and demonstrate how it could have been composed other than the way he did it.

Three sections make up the program, starting with the symphony orchestra playing Third Movement of Symphony No. 2 by Howard Hanson, and Piano Concerto in G Minor, by Mendelssohn.

A'CAPPELLA CHOIR will present a Negro spiritual, Soon Ah Will Be Done, and The Spirit Also Helpeth Us, by Bach. This motet will involve spliting the choir into two sections making a double choir for the number.

Final part of the program will feature Dr. Gates presenting his world premier composition with assistance from both orchestra and choir under his direction.

Preceeding the music department program, Rich Hall, Daily Universe sports editor, will present the Skyline Conference Championship trophy to Stan Watts, BYU varsity basketball team coach.

Opening Day Finds 1500 Receiving Polio Shots

Brigham Young University's polio clinic, opening Thursday at McDonald Health Center, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., has not drawn a majority of students.

As of Wednesday afternoon, only 1500 regular appointments had been made, according to drive chairman, John Marlow.

Plans for the second part of the clinic were also announced. Those participating in this week's clinic will have the second shot administered April 11-12.

Students will be charged $1 per injection, payable at the clinic, which pays for the vaccine. Health Center medical personnel under the supervision of Dr. Allan Barker will provide their services free of charge.

Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity, is coordinating the efforts of seven campus service units assisting with the project, one of the first of its kind on a college campus.

Candidacy Claims Sought By Universe

Candidates for Executive Council offices were urged Thursday by Daily Universe Editor-elect Mark Murphy to announce their intentions in the Daily Universe office Thursday morning.

"In order for each candidate to be completely represented to the voting studentbody," Murphy said, "we would like to announce the candidates and their major platform planks in Friday's paper."

"Plans are being made to give the election campaigns complete coverage so that student voters may have an opportunity to examine the qualifications and views of each individual candidate," Murphy said in announcing Daily Universe election policy.

Candidacy announcements must be in prior to noon Thursday, Murphy warned.

Popularity Voting Set In Assembly For Y-Belle Beauty

STUDENTS WILL VOTE Thursday at the regular assembly for their favorite Belle of the Y candidate.

The popularity contest is one of five contests in which the candidates for "The Y's Fair Lady" are being rated. The others were beauty, cake baking, talent, and dancink ability.

The Belle and her two attendants will be presented at the Belle of the Y Ball Friday evening. This heels and hose affair will be held in the Social Hall and the ballroom of the Smith Family Living Center. The Y's Men and the Collegians will play.

ADVANCE TICKETS for the dance are on sale in the McKay Building, the Smith Building and the Eyring Science Center. The dance is 75 cents a couple.

Friday evening at 9 p.m. the block Y on the mountain will be lighted by the Intercollegiate Knights.

Organization Presidents To Check Banyan Pics

Heads of all organizations on campus who are purchasing pictures in the 1957 Banyan should check their pictures in the Banyan office immediately.

Banyan staff executives have requested that anyone planning activity pictures in the yearbook check into the Banyan office between 4-5 p.m. any day before or including Friday. The Banyan office is located in the basement of the Student Service Center.

Music Glows, Sings . . .

Youthful Master Pianist To Present Lyceum

THOUGH STILL in his twenties, Jacob Lateiner, guest on the Brigham Young University Community Concert Series Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Smith Auditorium, is one of America's major pianists.

The Cuban-American musician has appeared as soloist with such orchestras as the NBC Symphony, the New York Philharmonic, the Boston Symphony, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the Chicago Symphony, and the Buffalo Philharmonic. He has also given many concerts in Europe, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Australia.

His BYU concert will include "Sonata in D minor, Opus 31, No. 2 (Tempest)" by van Beethoven; "Sonata No. 7, Opus 83" by Prokofieff; "Three Impromptus, Opus 20" by Schubert; and "Variations on a Theme of Paganini, Opus 35" by Brahms.

"One never forgets the impression made by Jacob Lateiner," a veteran concertgoer recently said. "He walks out on the stage as a mild-mannered, unpretentious young man of slender build, wearing horn-rimmed glasses. Once he is at the piano, there is a subtle and immediate transformation.

"HE BECOMES colossal, not in size, but in his masterful presentation of the music. He plays with profound understanding, based on scholarly and thoughtful study, but infused with such controlled fire and intensity that the music glows and sings."

His playing has been compared with that of Horowitz. Lateiner has recorded for Columbia and Westminister Records.

Songsters Warned About Applications

Songwriters planning to enter the 1957 Songfest should pick up their applications immediately according to Songfest Committeeman Gordon Coffman.

Songwriters who have not completed this application and returned it to the Student Coordinator's Office Friday will not be eligible for entrance in the Songfest.

Applications are now available in the Student Coordinator's office in the basement of the Student Service Center, and must be turned in there by 5 p.m. Friday.

Coffman said there will definitely be no late entries this year.

Casserole Dish Easy To Make For Exam Week

by Deanna Barnum

Final examination time is about here, and student cooks are searching for easy-to-prepare meals. During the next week try this casserole dish. You can put it in the oven and study while it is cooking.

Ingredients for six servings are:

½ Pound Pork Sausage
1 Cup uncooked rice
1 Can chicken soup
1 Can Water
1 Cup chopped celery
¾ Cup chopped onions
Salt and Pepper

Break sausage into small pieces and brown. Drain fat off and combine remaining ingredients. Bake in an open casserole at 350 regrees for 1 to 1½ hours. Mixture may need water if it gets dry during baking.

To complete the meal serve buttered corn, cabbage and apple salad, bread, cake with cherry sauce, and milk.

Make cherry sauce for six servings by heating two cups canned pie cherries. Reserve ½ cup of juice and into it blend 3 tablespoons corn starch. Stir this mixture into the boiling cherries and sweeten to taste. Serve over a piece of plain cake.

Diamond Jubilee

by Jeri Ann

Flippant Frauleins with fluttering hearts have organized another fleeting fan club on campus. The majestic male object of this organization is one of the athletic "heroes" on campus. We won't divulge his name in the interest of propriety.

A candid on-the-spot Diamond Jubilee reported accosted the ring leader of this group and asked her, "Has this campus hero stolen away your heart?"

The fluttering little debutante gracefully dragged a stethoscope out of her hip pocket and plugged it in the reporter's ears.

Meanwhile on campus many hearts have been stolen away, and a deluge of names have come in for this column.

BYU Matmen Take 4-3 Record To Laramie For Skyline Meet

by Jerry Cunningham

BRIGHAM YOUNG University's improving wrestlers cap the season's activities with a trip to Laramie, Wyo., for the annual Skyline Conference tournament March 8 and 9.

Coach Allen Davis, who is striving to improve the grappling program at BYU, will take eight wrestlers and a 4-3 record into the conference meet.

The personable young mat coach, at the wrestling helm for the first time this year, indicates that he is "more than pleased" with the showing of the hard-working crew of sophomores and juniors.

Wes Packer will represent BYU in the 123 pound division. The scrapping lightweight has a 4-3 record.

Roger Overson, 130-pounder, has a 2-4 record and is improving steadily according to Davis. Overson is a two-year state champ.

Glen Barfuss, 130-pound sophomore, has had little experience but possesses good potential.

Milt Moore, another sophomore, is one of the outstanding prospects on the squad. Moore, a 147-pounder, has a 4-3 record and credits Fruita, Colo. with his high school experience.

Leroi Davies, sophmore 157 pounder, has a 4-2 record. Davies, a former Provo High state champ, is one of the strongest men in his division.

Captain Ted Willich, 4-3, wrestles in the 167-pound bracket. Willich, from the point of experience and know-hw, is a Cougar stalwart. A four-year high school letterman, Willich hails from Lenia, N. J.

Merrell Glenn will carry BYU hopes in the 177-pound division. One of the few juniors on the team, Glenn has a 1-3 record and comes from Brighton City, Utah.

Heavyweight Dave Hanks is one of the outstanding prospects in his weight category. A football tackle, Hanks won four matches, lost two and tied one.

WRESTLE! Coach Allan Davis refs his two lightweights, Roger Overson, 130, and Wes Packer, 123.
